7-Day Launch Plan

Your AI works while you sleep. Seven focused days. One powerful launch. Let's build something that runs on autopilot.

Day 1 — Monday: Polish Your Foundation

What to Do

Today is about making your first impression count. Your website and chatbot are the face of your business — they need to be sharp, fast, and ready to convert.

- Review every page of your website for typos, broken links, and slow load times
- Test your chatbot flows end-to-end — make sure responses feel natural
- Ensure mobile responsiveness is pixel-perfect
- Add a clear call-to-action above the fold

Why It Matters

Before you invite anyone in, the house needs to be clean. A polished website builds instant credibility and your chatbot is your 24/7 sales rep — it needs to be ready before traffic arrives.

Goal: Website live, chatbot tested, zero broken experiences.

Day 2 — Tuesday: Set Up Pricing & Payments

Money can't flow in if the pipes aren't connected. Today you wire up your pricing and UPI payment links so customers can pay you instantly.

Define Your Pricing Tiers

Decide on your packages — starter, growth, and premium. Keep it simple: 2–3 options max. Clarity converts better than complexity.

Generate UPI Payment Links

Create unique UPI links for each pricing tier. Test each link yourself to confirm the payment flow works flawlessly before sharing with anyone.

Add Pricing to Your Website

Embed your pricing page with direct payment links. Customers should be able to go from "interested" to "paid" in under 60 seconds.

Confirm Payment Receipts

Set up automated confirmation messages so every paying customer gets an instant acknowledgment. First impressions after payment matter enormously.

ⓘ Pro tip: Name your UPI links clearly (e.g., "starter-plan") so you can track which tier is converting best from day one.

Day 3 — Wednesday: Create 5 Social Posts

Your Content Lineup

Five posts. Five angles. One mission: build awareness and drive curiosity before launch day. Batch-create everything today so you're not scrambling later.

Post 1 — The Problem

Describe the pain your audience feels. Make them nod their heads.

Post 2 — The Solution

Introduce your AI-powered service as the answer they've been waiting for.

Post 3 — Social Proof

Share a testimonial, result, or behind-the-scenes moment that builds trust.

Post 4 — How It Works

A simple 3-step breakdown of your service. Demystify the AI.

Post 5 — Launch Teaser

Build anticipation. "Something big is coming Sunday…"

Scheduling Strategy

Don't post all five today. Schedule them to drip out Thursday through Sunday for maximum momentum leading into launch.

> Use a tool like Buffer or Meta Business Suite to schedule posts in advance — set it and forget it.

Platforms to Target

- Instagram & Facebook for visual storytelling
- LinkedIn for B2B credibility
- Twitter/X for real-time buzz
- WhatsApp Status for warm audience reach

Day 4 — Thursday: WhatsApp 50 Contacts

Your warmest leads are already in your phone. Today you personally reach out to 50 contacts — not a broadcast blast, but genuine, personalized messages that feel human.

🎯 Who to Message

Past clients, colleagues, friends in business, and anyone who has ever asked "what do you do?" Prioritize people who have a problem your AI solves.

✍️ What to Say

Keep it short and personal. "Hey [Name], I'm launching something this Sunday that automates [X]. Thought of you — would love your feedback or a referral."

📊 Track Responses

Keep a simple spreadsheet: Name, Sent, Replied, Interested. Follow up with interested contacts on Saturday after your test run.

🔗 Include Your Link

Always attach your website link and a UPI payment link for anyone ready to move fast. Remove friction from the buying decision.

✓ Target: 50 messages sent, 10+ replies, 3–5 warm leads identified for Sunday follow-up.

Day 5 — Friday: Outbound 20 Calls

Pick Up the Phone

Twenty calls. This is where most people hesitate — and where you'll separate yourself from the competition. Real conversations convert faster than any message.

- Call warm leads from your WhatsApp list first
- Reach out to business owners in your network
- Call anyone who opened your messages but didn't reply
- Keep each call under 10 minutes — respect their time

Your Script (30-Second Pitch)

"Hi [Name], I'm launching an AI service on Sunday that [specific benefit]. It works 24/7 so you don't have to. Can I show you how it works in 5 minutes?"

Call Tracking Sheet

Column	What to Track
Name	Contact name
Status	Called / No Answer / Callback
Interest	Hot / Warm / Cold
Next Step	Demo / Follow-up / Pass

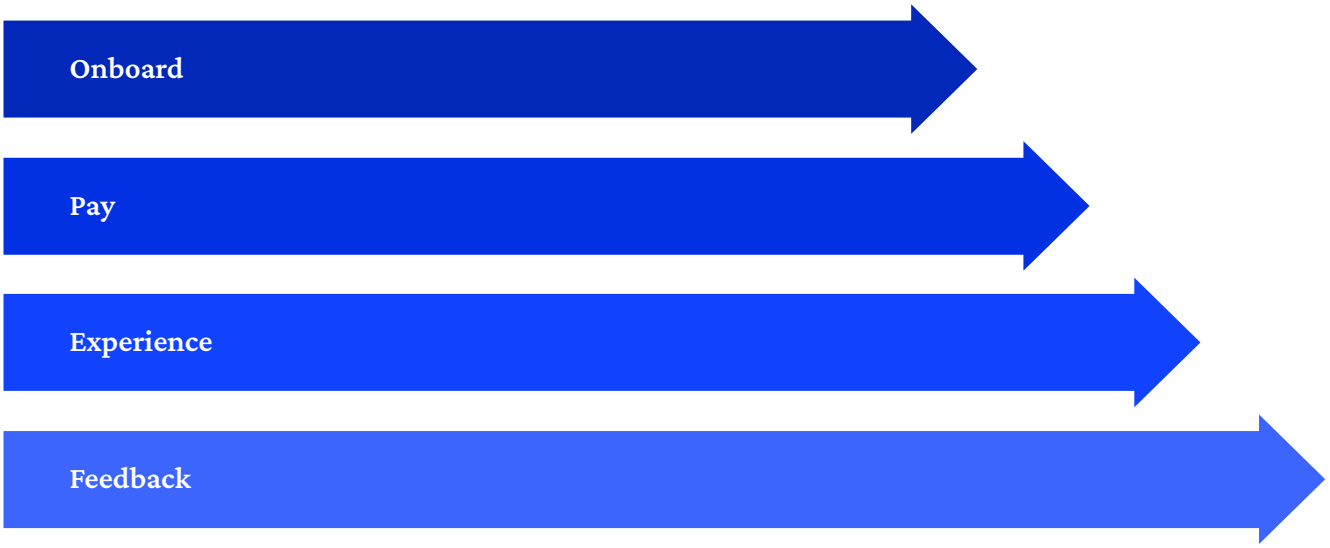
Aim for 20 dials. Even 8–10 conversations is a strong Friday. Quality over quantity — one hot lead beats ten cold ones.

End-of-Day Goal

By Friday evening, you should have at least 3 people confirmed to test your service on Saturday and a pipeline of warm leads ready for Sunday's launch.

Day 6 — Saturday: End-to-End Test with 3 Friends

Before you open the doors to the world, run a full dress rehearsal. Invite 3 trusted friends or colleagues to experience your service exactly as a paying customer would.



This test run is your safety net — it catches the bugs, awkward flows, and missing steps that you're too close to see yourself.

What to Test

- Website load speed on mobile and desktop
- UPI payment link — does money actually arrive?
- Chatbot responses to common and edge-case questions
- Onboarding email or WhatsApp confirmation message
- Overall experience from first click to first value

Feedback Questions to Ask

- Was anything confusing or unclear?
- Did the payment feel safe and easy?
- What would make you NOT buy this?
- What surprised you (good or bad)?
- Would you recommend this to someone?

⚠ Fix any critical issues Saturday evening. Minor polish can wait — don't let perfection delay your Sunday launch.

Day 7 — Sunday: LAUNCH 🚀

This is the day everything you've built goes live for the world. Execute your launch sequence with energy and confidence.

Morning

Post your launch announcement across all social platforms. Send your final WhatsApp broadcast to all 50 contacts: "We're LIVE!"

Midday
